in Washington State

This Directory is published annually by

Multifaith Works

Who We Are

As members of different faith communities we began meeting in March of 1998, seeking to be a resource for promoting awareness of the many faith communities who are welcoming to all people regardless of sexual orientation, and hoping to encourage those faith communities that are in dialogue on issues of inclusion of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgendered, and questioning persons.

Our Mission Statement

Multifaith Works builds a community of compassion by mobilizing volunteers from many spiritual and cultural backgrounds to provide practical and emotional support, and housing, for people living with AIDS or other life-threatening illnesses. Through all its programs, Multifaith Works promotes understanding and acceptance of human diversity.

Multifaith Works Programs

Multifaith Works is a non-profit, non-denominational organization that provides housing and supportive services to people living with AIDS, Multiple Sclerosis or other life-threatening illnesses, and community education on issues of human diversity.

- Seattle Shanti offers one-to-one emotional support to people living with HIV/AIDS or other life-threatening illnesses by providing active, non-judgmental listening and a comforting, sustaining relationship.
- The AIDS CareTeam Program offers friendship and practical support to individuals and households living with AIDS.
- Multifaith Housing Program provides supportive low-income housing to people living with AIDS and MS.

This is the sixth edition of this Directory. We will continue to update and add to it every year. If you have changes or corrections, or wish to have your faith community included in the next edition, please contact us at 206.324.1520 or info@multifaith.org.

The Past: People Divided by Fear and Hatred

All around the world, religions too frequently are one more cause of divisiveness and violence. Here in our own country there are still groups that seek to divide our society along racial or religious fault lines. Violence against various minorities - gay and lesbian people, Jews, Muslims, African Americans, Asian Americans, women, and others - remains a constant threat.

The Future: Diverse Communities Working Together Create a Powerful Force for Good

Multifaith Works is grounded in the continued existence of strong faith and cultural communities. When we bring together volunteers from diverse backgrounds, we ask all to bring the treasures of their respective faiths and cultures to the work of assisting others in need. In this way, we believe we can build a more compassionate and inclusive community. By celebrating our diversity and building upon shared values, we become a powerful force for good in our community.

Serving Those Most in Need

AIDS is still very present in our community: more than ever before, AIDS knows no boundaries. AIDS also raises many profound issues in its wake, such as the meaning of suffering, death, sexuality, and drug use. By offering emotional and practical support and housing, we improve the quality of life for people with AIDS in our community. At the same time, our success in this field has led us to initiate similar services for people with other life-threatening illnesses, most notably people with MS.

Building a Community of Compassion and Tolerance

Through our efforts, and by joining hands with other like-minded organizations, we are creating the kind of community in which people can thrive. The links we forge among diverse people help protect against divisiveness, fear, and intolerance. But even more importantly, we are building bridges of understanding among peoples of different backgrounds, leading to the emergence of a more tolerant, more compassionate, and more inclusive society.

Multifaith Works was founded by the Rev. Gwen Beighle in 1988 and is a member of the Interfaith Community Ministry Network. Funding comes through grant awards from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Health Resources and Services Administration, the Seattle-King County Department of Public Health, the United Way of King County, Episcopal Charities Appeal, Presbytery of Seattle, Catholic Archdiocese of Seattle, and many other donors.

June 7, 2007

Dear Friends,

The Multifaith Works Directory of Inclusive Faith Communities is again available. This piece of work has become one of the most important resources for the GLBTQ community in its struggle to find reconciliation with our faith communities, our past, and our present lives.

Today, more than ever, religion has become the center of controversy and the focus for change in both positive and negative ways. In the past year alone many evangelical Christian Churches have begun to question their past struggles and values and to examine how they can more effectively respond using true Christian values of acceptance and support for the most needy. This is a fundamental shift in this arena and does speak to the affects of quiet, constant pressure to respond to the truths embedded in Christianity.

At the same time our struggles in Iraq continue to reveal the effects of fundamentalism and the challenges that Muslims all over the world are facing regarding their religious truths and the effects of oppression and control. Multifaith Works is an agency that works to combat all of these issues with compassion, fortitude, and education; this Directory is one manifestation of this work.

The directory reveals to us that there is hope for everyone in our community to find a place where who we are and what we believe can come together to create hope and can change the world. This directory is only the door and the courage to embark on this journey comes from you.

Faithfully yours,

Arthur G. Padilla

About this Directory

Each of the responding faith communities in this Directory answered a series of seven questions designed to illustrate their progress on the road to becoming a fully inclusive faith community. They were also invited to write a Statement of Invitation to the LGBT community. The answers to the survey questions are indicated to the right of each responding faith community's name and contact information. A "Yes" answer is indicated by a "Y." "No's" are left blank. If an "NA" appears, it means the question isn't applicable to that faith community. "IP" means that the faith community is in the process of becoming more affirming on that issue. Each faith community's Statement of Invitation (if they wrote one) appears immediately below the community's name, contact information, and survey responses.

The Survey Questions

1. Have you formally adopted a program of acceptance of gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgendered people?
2. Do you have openly lesbian, gay, transgendered, or bisexual people in leadership positions?
3. Do you include bisexual, transgendered, gay, and lesbian people in all phases of your faith community life?
4. Are marriages/unions/commitment ceremonies performed and affirmed in your faith community for GLBT persons?
5. Are LGBT issues, hopes, and concerns addressed with respect in your faith community? (From the pulpit, in educational programs, in public prayers, etc.)
6. Do you or your pastoral staff feel comfortable counseling GLBT persons?
7. Has your local faith community made a public statement in support and acceptance of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgendered people? (Signage, advertising, newsletters, and bulletins.)

If you want all of the liturgy and none of the BS, please consider worshipping with us. We offer a liturgy that is familiar to Roman Catholics, but includes Orthodox and Anglican elements. We have valid apostolic succession. We offer the seven traditional sacraments, including matrimony for same gender couples, divorced couples and others. We offer a particular outreach to the GLBTQ community, the divorced and remarried community, and anyone who has felt marginalized by their church of origin or society at large.

The Path of Freedom Sangha is an inclusive non-sectarian Buddhist community. We engage with practice within a contemporary North American setting and help one another develop the practical tools to live out the teachings of the Buddha. We offer instruction in two simple meditation practices, study, and devotional activities to help bring about the transformation of consciousness encouraged by the Buddha. We emphasize the aims of alleviating suffering, both for oneself and others, and of creating a society based on justice and non-violence.

The Gnostic Holy Eucharist is the supreme transformational rite of Christian alchemy, and is celebrated most Sunday mornings at 11:00am in Seattle at the Chapel of Hagia Sophia (call us for address and directions). It has always been the contention of Gnostics that human nature is divine; therefore we have infinite strength and wisdom at our command, provided we can free ourselves of the obstacles which stand in the way of our conscious union with the indwelling Godhead. The Gnostic Holy Eucharist (or Mass) is so designed that it may effectively remove the barriers separating the human and divine natures in ourselves, thereby establishing new levels of receptivity to the inner world of the spirit. There is no barrier of any kind around the altar of Gnosis, and all are welcome to attend and participate.

We affirm with the apostle Paul that in Christ "there is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female" (Galatians 3:28). Christ has made us one. As a community of God striving to be inclusive and open to diversity, we, the members of Central Lutheran Church, welcome all people to join us as we struggle to better understand the mysteries of God's teaching and purposes for us. Although our world can seem to be a place of alienation and brokenness, Christ calls us to reconciliation and wholeness. We are challenged by Christ to care for, to love, to understand, and to listen to each other, regardless of our race, age, gender, marital status, physical and mental abilities, sexual/affectional orientation, national origin or economic status. We celebrate the special gifts that each has to bring! All people are welcome within the membership of Central Lutheran Church upon making the same affirmation of faith made by all members of the churches of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. And, as members of this church, we are all expected and encouraged to share in the sacramental and general life of this congregation. We celebrate together our unity as God's people.

Faith Lutheran, Bellingham, is a congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. Leadership provided by the ELCA, the Northwest Washington Synod, Open Door Ministries, and congregational members enabled us to enter into a significant conversation about how our congregation could more fully reflect the unity that God creates in the human family. That conversation allowed Faith to affirm God's work by becoming a Reconciling in Christ congregation. All of God's daughters and God's sons are welcomed as sisters and brothers at Faith.

Quakers' faith and practice are built around honoring "that of God in every person." Our worship is based on silent expectation of guidance from the Holy Spirit & openness to ministry without hierarchy or intermediary. Consistent with our historic testimonies for peace & harmony, simplicity, community & equality, Friends have welcomed sexual minorities, although not so consciously in the past. Our first same-sex wedding was held in 1981 and gays & lesbians have held all ministries since then. We welcome all who wish to join our tradition.

We are a "Welcoming Congregation," which means more than our commitment to be open and friendly to all who enter our doors. A Congregation designated by the Unitarian Universalist Association as "Welcoming" has made a specific commitment to actively reach out to people who are gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgendered. In 1995 our congregation entered a two-year process of education and discernment around issues of heterosexism and homophobia, and officially became a Welcoming Congregation in 1997. About 20% of our members are GLBT, while still others are parents and relatives of GLBT persons.

The issue of whether a faith community is welcoming to GLBT is such an old question for Unitarian Universalists. We have been officiating at marriage/commitment ceremonies since the 1950's. But it is very much a current question for the person wanting to walk into a service, and be loved for who they are, in their entirety. We are a small and growing faith community, with one hundred members. If you come to visit us, you will find that we are a "free" faith, with no dogma. What holds us together are our search for a caring community, our desire to be among people with whom we can join to make this world a better more just place, our desire to deepen our spiritual lives through wisdom from all the world's religions, through the example of prophetic women and men throughout the ages, and through the sharing of our own experiences of transcending awe and wonder. We delight in visitors joining us, 10:30 every Sunday.

We believe that all persons are children of God and that age, race, gender, sexual orientation, religion, ethnic background, physical/mental ability, socioeconomic status, and other differences that mark each of us are transparent in God's love. As a church community, we celebrate and find strength in diversity and view it as a way to understand the inclusiveness of God. We believe that, although we are many members, we are one body in Christ (Romans 12:4). As a part of that body of Christ, we are called to love one another, to do justice, to bring release to the oppressed, and to walk humbly with our God. Responding to that call, a goal of our ministry is to heal the brokenness we experience in ourselves and in our relationships with each other and with God.

Every Sunday, worshippers are welcomed to our morning services as "believers, seekers, and doubters." Our theological stance, honoring the reality that all of us are in different places on our walks of faith, mirrors our joyful welcome of people irrespective of sexual orientation and gender identity. When we called a gay couple as pastors in 1994, we received worldwide attention. Several months later, our congregation ceased making the orientation of these pastors an issue. Since then, we have also called a lesbian as a pastor. We seek to welcome and celebrate the gifts and graces of all who come through our doors. We understand orientation and gender identity as gifts of God, which shape who we are and how we understand God's call in our lives. And which are only a part of the richness and beauty of the creations we are. Here we seek to walk with one another, as we create ministries that deepen faith so all of us can be disciples of the radical Jesus who calls us as beloved so we might bless this world with a love that heals, inspires, and mends. Our services are Sundays, 9:00 a.m. (education for all ages) and 10:45 a.m. (worship for all); and Wednesdays, 6:00 p.m. (Taize worship of chants, silence, prayer, communion) and 6:45 p.m. (soup & bread). Education, outreach, and small group opportunities for all ages are offered. We look forward to welcoming you, getting to know you, and being changed by you.

We believe that all persons are recipients of God's love and grace. We believe the church of Jesus Christ is a community created to witness and embody this truth. As God has called the church in past times to affirm God's love and grace in relation to specific groups of people including women, the poor, and racial minorities, we believe God is calling us today to declare this same truth in relation to all persons, regardless of sexual orientation. Out of this discernment we declare ourselves to be a Reconciling Congregation.

Faith-based LGBT Advocacy Organizations

Baptists

American Baptists Concerned for Sexual Minorities

American Baptists Concerned for Sexual Minorities is a support, education and advocacy group for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender Baptists. We are an affirming and inclusive organization that also provides support and resources to families and friends of sexual minority Baptists, churches and clergy. Many LGBT Baptists have reconciled their faith and sexual orientation. Other people have been caused much pain because of the misbelief that someone cannot be both Christian and gay. When people face such alienation from their families and churches, we seek to be a ray of hope.

Latter Day Saints (Mormon)

Affirmation: Gay and Lesbian Mormons

Affirmation is a fellowship of gays, lesbians, bisexuals, their family and friends who share the common bond of the Mormon experience. Its purpose is to provide a supportive environment for relieving the needless fear, guilt, self-oppression and isolation that LDS gays and lesbians can experience in an era where willful ignorance about human sexuality is too often a reality. We believe that a same-gender orientation and same-gender relationships can be consistent with and supported by the Gospel of Jesus Christ. We affirm that we are children of Heavenly Parents who love us the way they created us and will judge us, as they do all, based on what we make of our lives here and how we have treated our brothers and sisters.

Lutheran

Lutherans Concerned of Seattle

We help people reconcile their spirituality and sexuality in an uplifting way. We also seek to lead the church by example. We cannot wait for everyone in the church to understand how acute the need is. We are called to minister to people now. Even as we continue to nurture worshipping communities that proclaim the Gospel while affirming sexual diversity, we are called to do more. Our vision is to take the lead in creating new ministries for those the institutional church is ignoring. Through our understanding of the Gospel, we believe that reaching out first and helping others helps each of us grow in our faith and understanding of God's grace.

Presbyterian

The Diversity Network in North Puget Sound Presbytery

Our primary purpose is to provide a comfortable atmosphere of openness where members of North Puget Sound Presbytery can, not only share their experiences with others, but also stand together in affirming an inclusive church. The long range goal of supporters is to demonstrate that a large number of members, ordained elders, deacons, and ministers of the Word and Sacrament within North Puget Sound Presbytery, are committed to reforming the Presbyterian Church (USA); that the continued discrimination against gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender persons in our church and society is unacceptable. We believe the time has come to live out God's call to, "love our neighbor as ourselves." This is a call to an inclusive love that welcomes all people to God's table and to full membership in the church. That invitation is central to the Gospel. God calls us to embrace those who have been excluded or marginalized, to welcome them into the fold, and to honor their call and their desire to serve god. We meet quarterly.
